

Hugh Coltman Lyrics

« The sun will Dance »

When morning light it comes to shine upon, shining gently on my window pain You're slowly shaking off the night before, wake to brand new day, to a new dawn

Easy, easy Mornin
Wipe off your tears
Leave your fears at the door
The sun'll dance upon your eyes

You don't have to cry
For the days
You know that they are the past
The sun'll dance upon your eyes

I know you been through the hardest times
I know that your bad luck has left you blind
But take one look outside and you will see
You've got a friend beside you endlessly

Easy, easy Mornin
Wipe off your tears
Leave your fears at the door
The sun'll dance upon your eyes

You don't have to cry
For the days
You know that they are the past
The sun'll dance upon your eyes